At the Theaters

Owing to the engagement of Ethel Barrymore at the Orpheum this week there has not been a vacant seat in the house at any performance. In fact the standing room sign is displayed afternoon and evening. The same condition will undoubtedly prevail next week, as Elsa Ruegger, the world's greatest woman cellist, will be the attraction.

Six thousand columns of newspaper comment have been evaked by "That Talker," the new play which comes to the Boyd with Tully Marshall as the star. The piay has to its credit a run of six months in the Harris theater, New York City, and will be seen in most of the continental cities of Europe. A company of rare excellence will be found in support of Mr. Marshall and consists of Miss Eva MacDonald, Miss Mary Malborn, Wilson Day, Preston Crewe, Miss Vida Croly Sidney, Miss Jean Newton, Miss Ciara Dalton and Warren Munsell, Seats are now on sale for the entire engagement.

There has not been in this generation another artist who could make up a list of songe like Kitty Chestham's program contains, for Miss Cheatham alone has made the songs of childhood a classic delight to this generation. How many grand opera singers have been put to the tost of singing the same thing to the public twice in a week? Caruso and Garden rarely; and no other at all, yet Kitty Cheatham repeated her artistic matines at the Lyceum theater, New York, to crowded houses. Miss Cheatham's engagement will be for two performances only, Saturday matines and evening, at the Brandels.

A mighty pretty musical number in "The Marry Whirl" at the Clayety this week is the Scotch song, "Strike Up a Baspine Tune," as sung by Miss Cooke. The regulation kilt uniforms worn by the big chorus back of Miss Cooke make a most appropriate background. Ladics dime matines dally at 2.15.
